Manager Commentary

October was turbulent for risk assets, with early gains eroded by month's end as liquidity waned. Valuations in some sectors appear stretched, raising questions about the potential for a year-end rally.

In the UK, Chancellor Reeves abandoned fiscal rules, adding £50+ billion in debt. Despite parallels to Mrs. Truss's policies, market reactions were muted. Gilt yields rose to 4.4% with more issuance expected, while UK equities remain selectively appealing.

The US economy remains strong, with 3.4% GDP growth and low credit spreads indicating corporate health. Inflation hovers at 2.4%, though adjusted figures fall below 2%. Improved October employment data reduced bond market's expectations for further Federal Reserve rate cuts, pushing Treasury yields higher and challenging equity valuations. Despite this, a November rate cut remains likely as the Fed navigates easing employment pressures.

As the US election nears, markets react to shifting poll dynamics. Ample liquidity supports risk assets, and a stronger dollar reflects geopolitical concerns. Overall, optimism persists for a solid year-end finish.

China's $28bn stimulus, though significant, falls short of market expectations, leaving recovery prospects uncertain. Investors demand more decisive action from the People's Bank of China. Japan's weaker yen and rising inflation have become problematic, increasing the likelihood of Bank of Japan intervention. Additionally, China's low-cost exports are pressuring Japan's vehicle exports, signalling that equity values may have peaked.

In Europe, inflation has dropped to just above 1%, but economic struggles in Germany and France persist, with manufacturing in decline. Volkswagen's factory closures highlight the challenges. Another round of quantitative easing could be on the horizon as the Eurozone navigates its fragile recovery.

The Technology sector and emerging market funds delivered positive returns, while sustainable energy and long-duration bond funds lagged, weighed down by their sensitivity to rising yields.

At a portfolio level, the Sustainable Balanced Growth model benefited from its US equity exposure. Of the portfolio's top holdings, the best performing fund was the Brown Advisory US Sustainable Growth fund. One of the fund's largest holdings is Monolithic Power Systems, a leading international semiconductor company who create innovative solutions and green, accessible products. Semiconductors are important for sustainability as they drive advances in communications, computing, health care, transportation, and clean energy.
